Fire Administration, National Fire Data Center, 1989 OCLC Number: (OCOLC)71354575 Subject: Fire investigation -- Case studies. Excerpt: . . . USFA-TR-032 May 1989 5 gasoline started to leak from the dome covers. The accident occurred on sloping property, as Route 7 crosses below Interstate 495 (see Appendix F). On notification at 0329, the Fairfax County Fire and Rescue Department dispatched a Hazmat assignment consisting of two engines, one ladder company, the Hazmat unit, a heavy rescue squad Hazmat support unit, an ambulance, a battalion chief, and a foam unit (see Appendix C). On arrival five minutes later the first due engine officer requested an additional foam unit and a battalion chief. It was quickly ascertained that the driver of the vehicle had escaped and there was no immediate threat to life. Following Fairfax Countys SOP, the officer of the first arriving engine isolated the area and con-firmed that the product involved was indeed gasoline (see Appendix D). At 0352 the water supply was established and the Hazmat team arrived on the scene. At approxi-mately 0410 the company that owned the tank truck was notified and their response team was requested. Because the incident occurred on sloping terrain, firefighters first covered the nearest downhill storm sewer grate. A protective foam blanket was applied to the spill and the tanker was secured in its overturned position. Much of the leaking gasoline was absorbed into the soil, as the tanker was physically off the road. The foam blanket was maintained throughout the incident. Because of the position of the tanker and the fact the dome covers were damaged, it was decided that...
