CHILDHOOD MEMORIES is a collection of short stories the author has written of his earliest memories as a young boy movin to a small farm and growing up on it. The entire Wild Wild West story is a vivid portrayal of the mind of a six year old boy s imagination while playing alone in the country. But, he was not alone as he had his imagination to while away the hours. Other stories are about life on a farm, from getting the milk cow, to caring for baby chickens. Smoking Meat is an actual event that took place many times during the course of his childhood. His Sis s Driving Lesson , parts 1 2 describe what two bright children can accomplish, once a course of action has been decided. It required that they work as a team and carry out plans with trial and error, until they succeeded the original plan of a leisurely drive through the country side. These stories are written in Loving Memory of a father who demonstrated and then trusted his young child to follow in his footsteps.
